

Storyboard: Jennifer Park Makes a Decision

1. Jennifer is frustrated with her job

Jennifer is becoming tired of her job. She works long hours, feels unappreciated and does not get the recognition she feels that she deserves.

2. Jennifer meets her friend Mira

On her way to meet her friend Mira at El Sol restaurant, Jennifer thinks about her life. She had a stressful day but looks forward to seeing her friend and unwinding.

3. Jennifer and Mira have dinner at El Sol

Jennifer meets Mira at El Sol. They have drinks, talk and catch up. Jennifer tells Mira that she is thinking of going to law school. Mira, who is an attorney, encourages Jennifer to pursue her plans.

4. Jennifer and Mira go dancing after dinner

After dinner they decide to go out dancing to celebrate Jennifer's new career goal. They have a great time dancing and Jennifer feels more relaxed, temporarily forgetting her stress from work.

5. Jennifer thinks about her new goal

The next morning Jennifer wakes feeling optimistic and sets out on her routine. On her metro ride she starts to think about how she can attain her goal. However, her mood changes because she starts thinking about practical issues, such as how she will pay for law school.

6. Jennifer goes to dinner at her parents' house

After work she goes to her parents' home for dinner. She tells her parents about her plan to apply to law school. She expresses concern about paying for law school. Her parents assure her that they will help her finance her education. This changes her mood and she feels more optimistic about her goal.

7. Jennifer applies to law school

Jennifer makes plans to take the LSAT. She sets a date to take the test in June and apply for Fall admission. She gets the LSAT results and does very well and waits for acceptance letters from schools. Finally, in August she gets an acceptance letter from Georgetown, the school of her choice.

8. Jennifer goes to law school

Jennifer resigns from her paralegal job and starts law school in September. Her first semester is a success, although it was a lot of work. She decides to move to a less expensive apartment and takes a part time job as a paralegal to help with living expenses. She is happy and focused on completing law school.